UTRECHT NETWORK SUMMER SCHOOL

HIDDEN LIBRARIES

Making Historical Libraries Accessible

July 1st – July 13th 2013

THESSALONIKI | GREECE

UtrechtNetwork

TOPIC

There are numbers of historical libraries in many European countries and beyond which are not accessible at all, or not sufficiently accessible to the scientific community or to the public. Some of these libraries may even be considered as „clandestine“. Additionally, there are collections of old books which are endangered in view of the situation of book conservation.

This Summer School aims at creating sensibility for the questions connected with such collections in order to better preserve this kind of European heritage and to finally provide broader access to so-called hidden libraries.

TARGET GROUP

This Summer School within the Utrecht Network is open for students, bachelors, masters and doctoral level from the following fields of study:

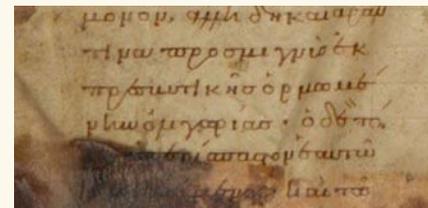

Library science
History, e.g. book history, history of libraries
Codicology
Philology
Book conservation
IT, focusing on digital libraries
Digitization techniques
Electronic cataloguing
Cultural science
Sacred Art
Cultural heritage, ...
